Name:

Graph It!

Directions: Use the Sports Illustrated for Kids: 2005 Year in Sports almanac to find what countries won the gold, silver and bronze metals in these sports during the 2004 Summer Olympics. Then graph your results and answer the questions below.

Baseball

Gold: Silver: Bronze:

Women's Team Gymnastics

Gold: Silver: Bronze:

Men's Handball

Gold: Silver: Bronze:

Women's Soccer

Gold: Silver: Bronze:

Men's 100 Meters (Track)

Gold: Silver: Bronze:

Men's Soccer

Gold: Silver: Bronze:

Softball

Gold: Silver: Bronze:

United States

Portugal

Australia

Japan

Argentina

Paraguay

Italy

Brazil

Germany

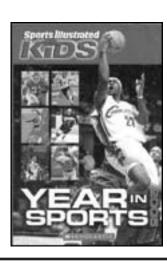

Russia

Croatia

Romania

Cuba

Gold Silver Bronze

Answer these questions using the graph above:

1. How many countries won gold metals? _____

2. What country won the most silver metals?

3. What country won the least amount of total medals? _____

Bonus Activities:

1. Use a map or globe to locate five of the countries listed above and write what continent you found them on.

2. Answer these trivia questions using the Summer Olympics section, page numbers where the answers can be found are provided:

What country will host the 2008 Summer Olympic Games? (page 298)

In 1912 what were the Olympic women's swimsuits made of? (page 299)

In the sport of Fencing why do competitors wear white uniforms? (page 306)

Find more activities at http://teacher.scholastic.com/fairs. Permission to reproduce is fully granted by Scholastic Inc.