

Correlation between Houghton Mifflin Reading and Scholastic Text Talk

Why is Vocabulary Important?

"Vocabulary plays an important part in learning to read."

-National Reading Panel

Words are our tools to communicate with others, as well as explore and analyze the world around us. Therefore, it stands to reason that children with a limited vocabulary will be handicapped in their educational progress. The most obvious effect of an underdeveloped vocabulary will be seen in poor reading comprehension, as children struggle to extract meaning from reading passages. Vocabulary knowledge and reading comprehension are strongly correlated, and lack of vocabulary skill is a contributor to low scores on standardized tests of reading.

While explicit vocabulary instruction benefits all students, those students who enter school having had limited opportunities to acquire words during the pre-school years benefit most dramatically. Research shows that without systematic vocabulary instruction during the primary grades, the gap between good and poor readers grows wider. Fortunately, weak vocabulary skills do not predict failure, merely point to the need for direct vocabulary instruction such as provided with Text Talk. If given a chance to improve their vocabulary skills, with a framework of effective instruction like Text Talk, most students can develop vocabulary skills at rates that will significantly impact their comprehension.

The purpose of this document is to share the research and evaluations completed of Houghton Mifflin Reading. While the basal program scores very highly on other elements of reading instruction (phonics, etc.), educators may find that vocabulary gains are lower than desired. The second half of this document shows how Text Talk can supplement Houghton Mifflin Reading on a week-by-week basis, both by offering expanded instruction in vocabulary and by reinforcing key comprehension skills.

RESEARCH AND EVALUATIONS OF VOCABULARY IN READING BASALS

A. Hiebert Analysis

A 2001 Hiebert evaluation of major reading basals finds a "sparing and haphazard use" of critical text factors essential for building strong vocabulary, including:

- Lack of repetition of words
- New words introduced at an inappropriate rate
- Lack of engaging text

The lack of repetition of words is particularly troublesome. Research studies show that students will not acquire vocabulary unless exposed to the vocabulary items multiple times. A study by Dr. Isabel Beck indicates that students need 10-12 exposures to each word through indirect means for the vocabulary to be absorbed by the students.

Yet, in Hiebert's analysis of major reading textbooks in Houghton Mifflin Reading, 66% of the unique words occur only once. (Hiebert (2001, a,b).

					% of unique word	ls
	Unique Words/100	Average Words per Passage	Singletons	4+ repetitions	High- Frequency (100 most frequent)	Phonetically Regular (CV & VC patterns)	Multisyllabic
Houghton Mifflin (2000)	38	76	66	13	7	22	36

Text Talk can be used to supplement HoughtonMifflin Reading to offer expanded vocabulary instruction that includes significant repetition of robust vocabulary words.

B. Oregon Reading First Panel Review

The Oregon Reading First Panel has reviewed many of the most widely-used basal reading textbooks, for their inclusion of research-based instruction as recommended by the National Reading Panel.

These excerpts from the Oregon Reading First Panel Review show the scores received by Houghton Mifflin for Vocabulary Instruction

Reviewers used the Kame'enui Critical Elements Analysis to rate each textbook series. They rated each item according to a three-point scale that is represented by a full circle (i.e., 2 points), a partial circle (1 point), or an empty circle (0 points.) A full circle indicates that the program consistently met or exceeded the criterion for that item. A partial circle indicates the program partially met the criterion for that item. An empty circle indicates that the program did not satisfy the criterion for that item.

Critical Elements Analysis 8

Vocabulary refers to the words we must know to communicate effectively. In general, vocabulary can be described as oral vocabulary or reading vocabulary. Oral vocabulary refers to words that we use in speaking or recognize in listening. Reading vocabulary refers to words we recognize or use in print.

Oregon Reading First Panel found Houghton Mifflin's vocabulary instruction insufficient (receiving a score of less than 75%) for the following grades:

- Grade K 50% of possible score
- Grade 1 25% of possible score

This means that students could fall behind in vocabulary development during these crucial first two grades, a deficiency that might be very difficult to remedy later on.

Text Talk provides comprehensive vocabulary instruction in the following topics, in which ORFP judges Houghton Mifflin to be insufficient:

- "integrates words into sentences and asks students to tell the meaning of the word in the sentence and to use it in a variety of contexts."
- "provides direct instruction of specific concepts and vocabulary."
- "provides repeated and multiple exposures to critical vocabulary."

The above topics are all covered repeatedly in the following areas of the Text Talk lessons:

- Introduce vocabulary
- Develop vocabulary
- Integrate Vocabulary and Comprehension

C. Analysis of the types of words taught

Research by Dr. Isabel Beck and Dr. Margaret McKeown emphasizes that students need systematic instruction that prepares students to deal with "decontextualized language". Beck explains: "... the kinds of words taught take on a greater role in the texts that students will encounter as they go up the grade levels." In other words, students need to be explicitly prepared to comprehend the types of words that appear in chapter books, more complex texts, and on standardized tests.

In developing Text Talk instruction through over a decade of research, Dr. Beck and Dr. McKeown recognized that the type of instruction included in most comprehensive reading programs was inadequately preparing students for the vocabulary demands of more complex text.

Thus, Text Talk instruction focuses on robust words. Each word was chosen because it:

Represents a familiar concept - For example, while students may not know that word they already know a simpler word to describe the same concept.

Will appear in more complex text - Students are likely to encounter these words in chapter books and on standardized tests starting in 3^{rd} and 4^{th} grade.

Text Talk words help teachers make the most of limited instructional time by focusing on useful words that give children a healthy vocabulary in the early grades.

The pages that follow list the words that Houghton Mifflin focuses on for vocabulary instruction. As is appropriate for students who enter with limited vocabulary skills, the series focuses on high-utility words that represent concrete objects (neck, wrist, foot) and basic words that describe a student's immediate world (big, little, huge). The program also does an adequate job of addressing specialized content-area words (parts of a ship, types of fish, dog breeds). However, missing from the instruction is a systematic introduction of "robust words" that teach children to understand and use decontextualized language.

On the pages that follow, the final column shows how the words from Text Talk strengthen the scope and sequence of vocabulary skills for Houghton Mifflin. Text Talk is a useful supplement to this textbook series. When used together, students will be much better prepared to comprehend texts in 3rd and 4th grades.

TEXT TALK AND COMPREHENSION

Research over 30 years has shown that instruction in comprehension can help students understand what they read, remember what they read, and communicate with others about what they read.

--"Put Reading First", National Reading Panel

How Text Talk Focuses on Comprehension Strategies:

- Teachers briefly preview the read-aloud story and focus children on key story ideas.
- Each lesson focuses on a comprehension strategy, such as summarizing and problem/solution.
- As teachers page through the book, they help students elaborate, connect, and reflect on important story ideas to enhance their understanding of the text.
- Teachers scaffold comprehension of the read-aloud books by using the open-ended questions and teacher modeling found on the adhesive Text Talk Notes
- Children connect the literary element of the story's genre, such as fantasy, folktale, and fairytale, to the important story ideas and comprehension strategy.

TEXT TALK REINFORCES COMPREHENSION STRATEGIES COVERED BY OPEN COURT, PROVIDING VITAL NECESSARY PRACTICE TO ENSURE STUDENT SUCCESS NOW, AND IN THE FUTURE.
