Write Your Own Preamble

The U.S. Constitution is one of the most important documents in American history. It lists all the basic rules for how our nation is to be governed. The writers of the Constitution began the document with a preamble, or mission statement:

Now that you have read the preamble to the U.S. Constitution, write a "preamble" or mission statement for your classroom. Before you write, think about the overall goals you and your classmates would like to accomplish this school year.
