

ORGANIZING INFORMATION

Make a Note of It

Making an outline is an effective way to organize and remember important information from a text. Below is an outline of the article titled "Mixing Worlds" on p. 11. But some items of information are missing. Use the article to complete this outline. Then use the same basic format to outline an article of your own choosing.

I. "Mixing Worlds"

A. Today's Nez Perce teens preserve old traditions.

1. They pick and dry huckleberries.

2. _____

3. _____

4. _____

B. _____

1. They go to movies with friends.

2. _____

3. _____

4. _____

5. _____

C. There are things about the Nez Perce that people don't know or understand.

1. _____

2. They call themselves "the real people" or "we the people" in their own language.

D. The Nez Perce face a challenge for the future.

1. _____

2. Other traditions could die out as well.