Pronouns and antecedents must agree, just like subjects and verbs. A pronoun is a word that replaces a noun or noun phrase. An antecedent is the word(s) to which the pronoun refers.

Directions: In each entry below, you will find a blank where a pronoun belongs. Circle the antecedent that shows what the pronoun refers to, and then write the correct pronoun in the blank.

Example: (Dylan) saved his money to buy a ticket to the Winter X Games.
