

Article: "Will Is Legend" • Issue: September 1, 2008

Name: _____ Class: _____ Date: _____

KWL: Know, Want, Learn

A great way to get the most out of a nonfiction article is to ask yourself a few questions before you start reading. What do you know about the subject already (or think you know)? What do you want to know about it? After you've finished reading, ask yourself, "What did I learn from this?"

Directions: Before you read "Will Is Legend," fill in the first two columns in the chart below. After reading the article, fill in the third column.

What I Know	What I Want to Know	What I Learned