Apostrophe Authority

While reading "Meet the Jonas Brothers," you inserted missing apostrophes into possessives and contractions. Rewind and review: Contractions combine words. "It's time to go!" means "It is time to go!" Possessives indicate ownership. "Joe's car" means that the car belongs to Joe.

Directions: Rewrite the sentences below to include at least one possessive. When possible, combine words to create contractions.

Example:

That cool car belongs to Kate.

That's Kate's cool car.

1. Camp Rock is the first film of the Jonas Brothers.

2. Fans cannot get enough of the music of the Jonas Brothers.

3. A Little Bit Longer is the newest album of the Jonas Brothers.

4. The talent of Nick Jonas landed him a role in Les Misérables, and it was not long before he received parts in other musicals.

5. This year has been a busy one for the Jonas Brothers, who starred in one of the biggest TV events for the Disney Channel.
