Making Connections

Studying the characters in a story gives you a deeper understanding of the text. One way to learn about characters is to consider their relationship with each other. In this activity, you will consider how Claire in the play The Clique relates to the people around her, how the other characters relate to Claire, and how these relationships change throughout the play.

Directions: In the sections below, describe Claire's relationship to each person listed. Explain how she treats them and how they treat her, and how these relationships change Claire during the course of the play.
