

Kathy Attaway

Director of Professional Learning,
International Center for Leadership in Education (ICLE)

Kathy can help you with:

Using data to drive academic decisions

School and administrative leadership development plans

Raise student achievement to meet the new standards

Kathy Attaway believes that focusing both school and community on school improvement and individual student achievement is the key to success. She attributes her skills of instruction, curriculum development, and data analysis to her more than 30 years in education.

Kathy began her career as a teacher and administrator in Port Arthur ISD, Texas. Under her leadership, the school moved from a state rating of Academically Acceptable to Exemplary in just three years. After leaving Port Arthur ISD, Kathy worked as a principal in Katy ISD. The school was the first in Katy ISD to twice achieve recognition as a National Blue Ribbon School. After 30 years in the public school arena, Kathy began work in the parochial school arena, working in both elementary and secondary education. She worked as a counselor/accreditation facilitator at the high school level for a year, and then served as a principal of a K-8 campus. Kathy currently holds a position as part-time Assistant Professor of Educational Leadership at Lamar University.

Kathy was awarded a doctorate of philosophy degree from Texas A&M University, and a master's of supervision in Curriculum and Instruction and bachelor's degree from Lamar University. Additional Professional certifications include Superintendent, Supervisor of Curriculum and Instruction in General Education and Special Education (Grades PreK-12), Mid-Management Administrator (Grades PreK-12), Elementary Art (Grades 1-8), Special Education (Grades PreK-8), and Early Childhood Education (Grades PreK-kindergarten).
