

Teacher Collaboration

Everyone benefits when teachers share information and wisdom. Are you making the most of associations with fellow educators?

- You have formed networks with other teachers, at your own school or beyond.
- You have looked into formal opportunities for teacher interaction, which may be sponsored by your school district or run by a community group.
- You have developed a partnership with another teacher at your school who can observe you teaching and give you feedback.

Helpful Resource:

- Building Bonds Among Teachers and Directors
http://teacher.scholastic.com/professional/teachertoteacher/building_bonds.htm